

FALL SUITS AT $20

We show a wide range of handsome fabrics in our Fall Suits at $20. Medium shades of gray in refined stripe effects; pronounced stripes on gray grounds; light and olive grays in herringbone weaves, dark grays, dark greens, and fine self-striped silk mixtures.

The new models are as handsome as the new cloths—shapely coats minus the freakish points; smart looking but nothing "smarty" about them. In short, suits for gentlemen.

Our price range for Fall Suits is from $10 to $35. You can be sure of getting your money's worth at each price.

IN THE THEATRES

JACKSON'S

"THE PRINCESS OF PATCHES."

When Mark Swan, the well-known playwright, was looking for a suitable place for the scenes of "The Princess of Patches," one of the best pieces that ever came from his prolific pen, he chose the picturesque South with its complex race of notions, showing in all its beauty and local color, a typical southern cotton plantation, showing the negroes working in the cotton fields, carrying the cotton to the storehouse to be weighed and the old time well and windlass. In the third act, the interior of a house, which was in vogue thirty to forty years ago on all the southern rivers is shown. To get an exact copy of this old house, the scenic artist, South and made an exact reproduction of one which is now lying on the banks of the Mississippi river, near Natchez. "The Princess of Patches" with Dainty Estelle Allen in the title role commenced a three days' engagement at Jackson's this afternoon.

MR. JACOB ADLER.

Mr. Jacob P. Adler, All-Star Yiddish Company headed by the eminent Yiddish tragedian Mr. Jacob P. Adler and supported by the favorite South players Mme. Sarah Adler and Miss Frances Adler and an all-star cast of popular Yiddish players direct from Adler's Grand Theatre, New York City, will appear for the first time in this city in the latest and most successful play "The Stranger," a drama of Yiddish life in four acts by the late Jacob Jacobson. Jackson's Theatre has been specially written for this noted tragedian and was produced at his theatre in New York City. The Adler's Grand Theatre, New York City, has long and successful run and scored the most tremendous hit ever known to the Yiddish theatre. Seats are now on sale.

LOUIS MANN.

"The Man Who Stood Still" is the most play in which Louis Mann has appeared as a star since, in 1896, he first made his first great New York City success as the German middle-class teacher in the Strange Adventures of Miss Brown, a play in which he took a small part simply to be in the same cast with Miss Clara Lipman, who is Mrs. Mann in the play, and who appeared in the principal woman's role in that amusing English farce.

The other plays have been "The Girl from Paris," "The Telephone Girl," "The Girl in the Barracks," "All on Account of Eliza," "The Red Foot," "Bohemia," "The Second Fiddle," and "Julie Bon Bon." Omitted from this list, however, are two plays of special interest. One of "Master and Pupils" in which he and Miss Lipman acted for a few special performances in Boston, and then laid aside, regarding it as a flat and irredeemable flop. The other play, "The White Hen," which the Shuberts produced for Mr. Mann in the Spring of 1907 in the New York Casino. Mr. Mann, soon after that production was made, learned that the actual rights to the play were vested in George Edwards, the London manager and he forthwith refused to play longer in it, although the play, for the United States, would become the property of Charles Frohman, who was far from allied with the Shuberts and was regarded as their chief business rival. It is said that Mr. Mann has made the hit of his career in his new play "The Man Who Stood Still," which comes to Jackson's for a single performance and next Friday evening, Oct. 1. The seat sale commences to-morrow morning at 9 a. m.

Assassination Plot Against King Alfonso

(Special from United Press.)
Madrid, Sept. 27.—(Via Henda)—Convicted that the assassination plot discovered against Premier Maura included also King Alfonso and all his reactionary advisers, the police are to-day arresting scores of suspects. It was at first thought the plot was against Maura alone on account of his activity in causing the arrest of Ferrer, the revolutionary leader. Evidence obtained to-day, however, shows conclusively that the plot was much more widespread.

Until the arrest of all those suspected of complicity in the plot, Alfonso and his cabinet will be put under a special guard.

The young ladies of the South. Murray Co. will give another of their popular informal dances at Slocum hall, Wednesday evening, Sept. 28. The young ladies have proved good entertainers in the past, and a good time is assured all who attend.

POLI'S

There is a good show this week at Poli's. There was a fine show last week and it will not be behind it one iota. The pace has been set and will be kept up all along the line. The bill this week is one that should please, because it has plenty of comedy, and at the same time it has some interesting acts that could not really be called comedy.

TARIFF BOARD TO BEGIN WORK

First Will Examine Carefully Tariffs of All Foreign Nations.

REPORT TO TAFT MARCH 31

(Special from United Press.)
Washington, Sept. 27.—The general tariff board, consisting of Professor Emory, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, Reynolds and Alvin H. Sanders, will continue to hold meetings this week to discuss the preliminary of its work. The first real labor of the board will be the examination of the tariffs of all foreign nations. Should it be found that discriminations exist against the United States, note will be made of the fact.

A complete report must be in the hands of the President before March 31st next, for on that date the law imposes 25 per cent. additional tariff on all goods imported, unless in the meantime President Taft has issued proclamations declaring that certain countries do not discriminate against the United States and are therefore entitled to the minimum tariff. At present practically all of the European countries, with the exception of England, give tariff favors to other nations which are denied to America.

What the board will do after it gets through with this part of its labors is yet to be determined. President Taft has intimated, however, that he wants the members to get into the question of the cost of production in foreign countries and many other matters which might be of value whenever the American Congress tackles the subject of the tariff again.

Many people delude themselves by saying "It will wear away" when they notice symptoms of kidney and bladder trouble. This is a mistake. Take Foley's Kidney Pills, and stop the drain on the vitality. They cure backache, rheumatism, kidney and bladder trouble, and makes every trace of pain, weakness, and urinary trouble disappear. F. B. Brill, local agent. *136

MEYMARIAN ESCAPES TURKISH SLAYERS

A. H. Meymarian has joined his brother in this city. He is an Armenian who conducted a successful hardware business at Adams, Turkey, up to the time when the Turks massacred 35,000 Christians at this place. He is a brother of D. H. Meymarian who is a rug dealer at 148 Golden Hill St. The refugees arrived here last week and says he owes his life to the British consul who insisted on protection being given to the English mission house where he had taken refuge. Meymarian reached this city by going to the island of Cyprus and crossed to Alexandria in Egypt where he secured passage to England and then to this country.

Legere and George H. Spash.

MIND LOST AFTER HER VACCINATION

Mother of Annie O'Connell Writes from Ireland Her Belief in the Cause.

GIRL LEFT HOME PERFECTLY WELL

New Haven, Sept. 27.—The case of Miss Annie O'Connell, the handsome young Irish domestic who was taken to the New Haven hospital from a train arriving from New York on August 11 last in a speechless condition, and who was subsequently and still is unable to give an account of herself clearly, seems to be one that is likely to attract more than local attention because of the fact that her family now believes that her condition is due to the injection of poison vaccine virus into her blood while she was a steamer passenger to this country from Ireland. It is possible that medical experts may take up the matter and make an investigation of it.

The case of Miss O'Connell is one that attracted attention from the first. She arrived here on an afternoon train from New York, having been sent here by her employer, Mrs. Davis (formerly of this city and now of Brooklyn, N. Y.), because she was ill. She was ticketed to the house of her aunt, Mrs. Hannah O'Connor, at 523 East street, this city.

Failing to be able to give her name or any account of herself, upon arrival here she was transferred to the New Haven hospital where her case was diagnosed by Drs. Stewart and Lusk as one of delirium tremens. This means a form of insanity from which there is much difficulty of recovering.

She is now at the home of her aunt in East street, and while she has improved somewhat, she is still very far from well. She is now being attended by Dr. McGuire. All her acquaintances here have been at a loss to account for her peculiar condition, as she is still unable to converse intelligently. She is on record in the annuals of the hospital as a woman who has lost her mind. It was supposed at the time she arrived here that she was suffering from overheating.

The following letter to the Journal-Courier, from her mother, Catherine O'Connell, of Cloghroe, Inniscarra, County Cork, Ireland, bearing date of September 15, last, may help to throw some light on the girl's peculiar condition. Mrs. O'Connell's letter says among other things: "To the Editor of the Journal-Courier: 'Sir: Please publish the cause of the loss of my daughter's memory and oblige her mother. When my daughter left her home in Ireland on the 14th of last April she was as fine a type of an Irish girl as any one could wish to lay eyes on. She was a graduate from a civil service college, and as the bishop of the diocese stated, she was a credit to the parish and the parents that reared her, and a true type of her Irish name. I never knew her to be a day ill in her life. She had a sound and a healthy constitution, but the treatment she received on the steamer is the cause of all of our sore trouble. With her girl chum she wrote home that she never tasted the rough and badly supplied food on the steamer. She had no fore she landed, the doctor on the steamer, despite the fact that he must have seen that my daughter had an abundance of the marks of vaccination, insisted upon vaccinating her again, with the result that he inserted his bad vaccination in her system. From that time to this Annie O'Connell is not well.'

"If I had money I would sue the steamship company for causing my trouble and expense to all her friends. I think the latter, one and all, for their great and lasting kindness to my stricken daughter. Also Mr. and Mrs. Davis in whose employ she was. 'As the matron at the New Haven hospital stated, my daughter had a domestic of the upper class. 'MRS. CATHERINE O'CONNELL.' At the hospital last night it was stated that nothing was said to indicate what the matter was with the girl and that no diagnosis of the case other than that quoted at the beginning of this article had been made. Mrs. O'Connor was very reluctant to talk about the case last night. She said that the physicians who had been connected with the case had told her that the vaccination had nothing to do with it. She shrank from publicity in the matter, because she did not feel she ought to combat the requirements of a governmental regulation in the matter of enforced vaccination. Her niece, she said, had improved somewhat.

RELAYS OF HOLY ROLLERS ARRIVE

Duxbury, Mass., Sept. 27.—Meetings of the Trinitarian Immersionists of Holy Rollers are to-day being continued at Ashdod, near here, despite the fact that the world's ending did not occur on Friday as was expected by the faithful. The places of those who have given up all hope of the great glorification at the present time and who have gone to their homes, have been filled by others. Mark B. Radcliffe, leader of the sect in Yonkers, N. Y., said that a large number of the faithful from that city are expected to arrive to-day.

Religious services were held in the chapel Sunday and Sunday night in the hope that some revelation might be made regarding the purification of the earth by fire or that some counsel as to the future might be given.

Not Many Store-Sales Are Uninfluenced by Store-Advertising!

The store-sales to-day that are uninfluenced, directly or indirectly, by store-advertising will not have amounted to ten per cent. of the total business of the day. By the direct influence of advertising the sales of articles specifically advertised. By the indirect influence of advertising is meant the articles sold that are not specifically advertised, but are displayed to the customers who are drawn to the store by THE ADVERTISED ARTICLES. In the latter case, as surely as in the first, the advertising must be credited with the sale.

Observant merchants know that this is true. They should gain courage from the knowledge to strengthen their advertising campaigns to the point of matching their store-hopes and plans.
